

3 WAYS TO CELEBRATE EMPLOYEE APPRECIATION Day 2023

Employee Appreciation Day is more than acknowledging your employees. It is about building a foundation for motivated and fulfilled workers. Notable talent is hard to find; that's why Employee Appreciation Day is the perfect opportunity for leaders to thank their employees for their hard work and efforts. Appreciation goes a long way, and we have three tips that can help you celebrate your employees!

1 Social Media Praise:

Create a social media post on your company's chosen platform acknowledging Employee Appreciation Day. Let your clients, partners and employees know that your business has amazing talent that keeps things moving like a well-oiled machine!

2 Wall of Appreciation:

Create an appreciation wall on your company intranet where leaders can submit messages of thanks. This will give employees a sense of pride and accomplishment for a job well done.

3 Small Token of

Thanks: A gift can go a long way, whether it is $25 for Uber Eats to have lunch on the company or providing everyone an extra day off. A unique gift is a small price to pay to celebrate all your employees and show how much you value them!

We know that recognition should happen all year long; in fact, that's what we recommend! But Employee Appreciation Day is the one day for organizations to focus on and celebrate how much you appreciate and value your employees.
